Media Tour of Kaho'olawe on November 10, 2003

IN-DEPTH TOUR WILL BEGIN ON MAUI 8:00 A.M. AND RETURN AT 4:00 P.M.

Honolulu, HI, October 31, 2003—The Kaho'olawe Island Reserve Commission (KIRC) will conduct a media tour of the island of Kaho'olawe on November 10. The KIRC will provide transportation to and from Kaho'olawe from the Pu'unene heliport on Maui. Seating is limited.

In addition to providing a diverse view of the island's geography, cultural, archaeological, and environmental resources, the tour will serve as platform from which the KIRC will provide a glimpse into the future of Kaho'olawe. KIRC's experts will be on hand to discuss the variety of management areas, including cultural and educational, natural resources, and operations (e.g., access control, risk management, unexploded ordnance (UXO), etc.).

The tour will be on Kaho'olawe for approximately seven hours to enable members of the news media to view a variety of sites and features, in different parts of the island. Members of the press participating in the tour will be provided a press kit containing CDs, DVDs, and printed background material on the island and plans for its future under state control. Those participating should be prepared to walk in rough terrain and dress accordingly.
